Russia is All Eye on Development of Situation and Concentration of Terror Groups in North Afghanistan.

Glimpse the history: Throughout history, especially in the last 275 years, Afghanistan has witnessed aggressions, interventions, internal unrest, civil wars, power-seeking and authoritarian encounters. This trend continues until now. Its residents and people had no role in determining their fate. One of the causes of the current crisis can be found in the twists and turns of the authoritarian and mercenary regimes of the past; the regimes established in Afghanistan were mostly the product of political agreements, interactions and dealings between the regional powers of the time. So far, Afghanistan has remained entangled in the grip of the Great Strategic Game of regional and global powers. The main reason for the intermittent emergence and continuation of the crisis lies in its significant geographical location.

If we put aside the course of the historical past and only analyse the situation of the country in the last fifty years, it will be evaluated precisely and realistically. We can provide a relatively clear perspective to explain the political situation of the country. Therefore, it is not possible to signify the current political, economic, social, administrative and cultural condition in this country without considering the activities of Afghanistan's neighbouring countries plus the competition of great powers. In this game, the United States, Britain, in collusion with Pakistan, Saudi Arabia, the United Arab Emirates and Qatar are on one side of the equation while Russia, China, Iran and India are on the other side. It is not possible to draw a clear picture of this strategic game. Since the Cold War period and the presence of the former Soviet troops in Afghanistan the game has started.

After the Soviet forces withdrew from Afghanistan, the USA and its allies, apparently in the name of fighting against terrorism, invaded Afghanistan after the 9/11 terrorist attacks, two planes on the World Trade Centre in New York City, and the third plane into Pentagon in Arlington, Virginia. While Pakistan was a safe place for terrorism. In the name of a self-made war against terrorism, the main purpose has been to access raw materials and underground resources in Afghanistan and Central Asia and slow the economic progress in China and Russia.

Justification for Invasion and Occupation- against or for terrorism: Terrorism has been used as a means of justifying attacks, interventions and competition with China, Russia, and Iran, and the Afghan people have fallen victim to this rivalry for four decades. Therefore, the cause of the current turmoil situation can be explained in the light of different components. This analysis is based on eyesight and undeniable evidence. According to political analysts, the situation and events in Afghanistan in the last half-century are inextricably linked only to the big intelligence games of the world powers, according to Afghan political observers.

The American and British special agencies are trying to prevent the national resistance front led by Ahmad Masoud from fighting and advancing, and on the contrary, they are ready to defend the Taliban group. The US Ministry of Foreign Affairs stated that Washington is preparing to conclude another historic political deal with the Taliban.

It should not be forgotten that a big conference like Bonn II or Qatar II, called the "Great Inter-Afghan Conference" is underway to be held in Washington at the end of July, where a new agreement will be made between the US and the participating members, and the so-called inclusive cabinet will approve it. It is said that the previous government's high-ranking figures, called the "Resistance Council Front" stationed in Turkey will play a shameful game. It is not known whether Ahmad Masoud, the leader of the anti – Taliban Resistance front leader will participate in this conference or not.

The report states that the victories of the National Resistance Front in Baghlan and Panjshir are not unacceptable for America and its partners. The U.S. Department of State condemns this resistance, expressing in a statement: "We want a stable and stable political order (in Afghanistan) through peaceful means, and we do not support organized violent opposition to the Taliban, and we do not want other forces to do this." We will prevent it, and America needs to understand Washington's strategy in Afghanistan." People are asking so what were you doing for twenty years in Afghanistan, killing over 200,000 people. This statement demonstrates how Afghanistan was plunged into a chaotic situation in this bloody game. The terror groups are defended because they were put in power by the USA and Pakistan, observers confirm. It is said that, in fact, the 180 degrees of change in the secret policy of America toward Afghanistan in favour of the Taliban terrorist groups, has put Moscow in an unpleasant situation.

The article in the newspaper by, "Russian independent Andrei Nikolayevich Serenko - researcher, political science expert, writes that the statement of the US State Department on July 8 is not the seal of approval and open support of the US to the Taliban, but introduced the value of US policy to the world. And he showed who he is dealing with and this value is higher than Ahmad Masoud and the National Resistance Front. But this stance is also in favour of the Resistance Front. According to this newspaper, the threat against Ahmad Masoud started when the Resistance Front had significant successes in Panjshir and Dar Baghlan. And this was not pleasant for Washington.

The analyst of the independent Russian newspaper draws some conclusions from the memo of the US State Department:

Firstly, those people who led the collapse of the Islamic Republic regime in Afghanistan in August 2021 and the handover of this country to the Taliban, and who led a behind-the-scenes deal between the Americans and the Taliban leaders with the cooperation of ISI. Washington chose its strategic work in favour of the Taliban and today it is trying to protect it from the armed opposition.

Secondly, those who saw the claim of the resistance front of the "traces" of Ahmed Masoud's connection with London and Washington were wrong, and everything turned out to be completely the opposite, because the American and British representatives have been trying to impress the Taliban regime officials in Kabul and Doha for several months, and promised various humanitarian, financial, economic and political projects to the "angry mullahs". The leaders of the National Front received the first yellow card from the referee in Washington in the new "great game" of Afghanistan.

Undoubtedly, this open movement of the Americans on the Afghan chessboard is, of course, an unpleasant event for the architects of Afghanistan's politics in Moscow. Until now, when their commentators eagerly convinced the Russian audience that the Taliban are irreconcilable enemies of the United States and the West. But now it is clear that Taliban terror groups have been collaborating with Americans through Pakistan. Kremlin needs to be engaged in this game in a way to nullify the American plan after Ukraine in a new cold war. For this purpose, the designers of the Russian strategy in Afghanistan not only pampered the leaders and fighters of the Taliban with gratitude and political compliments but also handed over the Afghan embassy in the Centre of Moscow to the Taliban.

At the same time, commentators and government agencies discredited and undermined the anti-Taliban resistance led by Ahmad Masoud in the eyes of Russian public opinion and the leadership of the Russian Federation. It is obvious that now Moscow has to revise its policy in Afghanistan because maintaining the current process means playing the role of useful fools for Russia's main geopolitical rival. To continue to believe the conspiracy stories about "all is not really as it seems in Afghanistan" is to play a game in advance with the prospect of consequences for Russian interests in Central and South Asia. As in the past, these games will determine the fate of Afghanistan once again. The continuation of the national resistance front against the proxy army of Pakistan undoubtedly plays an essential role in determining the country's destiny. It is not important if the USA support the Taliban terrorist groups as it did the corrupt previous so-called elected governments. The resistance front will continue its struggle until a broad-based government is established in which every citizen has equal rights, freedom, security and justice. Not a puppet regime composed of terrorists, thieves, corrupt people from the previous government staff and terror groups.

US puppet governments the cause of the present crises in Afghanistan: A logical foundation of the vision and rationality of the functions of the "national unity" government! And the Karzai regime, in the flow of billions of dollars in Afghanistan, let us know whether the West's unrestricted relief was intended to disintegrate Pakistan and provoke Russia in Afghanistan at the NATO summit. It is calm and secure to defeat the terror and the creation of Afghanistan, and with the isolation of Pakistan, peace and security are provided in our country and the Western countries are honest in this regard? Afghanistan's business in using existing capacities and future aid to enhance martial arts and defence skills and security forces and terror power supplies to provide the necessary management?

We must not forget that generous help! The West, as NATO's widespread attack on the United States, appears to have been pouring into Afghanistan, which is unprecedented in the history of foreign aid to third world countries. The United States and its NATO allies over the fall of the Taliban government and the empowerment of Hamid Karzai and his colleague have helped Afghanistan under the fascinating slogans of "rebuilding, good governance and corruption, drug abuse". The huge amount of aid was cash that was officially and secretly delivered to Hamid Karzai and his prominent leaders to advance a specific program and achieve long-term US and British goals. The leaders of the national unity government of Ghani and Abdullah were in charge of the Ministry of Finance and Economy and the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. So, if we reflect a little, we find that foreign forces from the palaces of a mafia group were intentionally created.

It is clear that inside the corrupt Afghan system, Pakistani intelligence has had an active and obvious presence in all government departments of Afghanistan including the presidential office, security agencies, ministries of defence, and parliament. According to analysts and former officials of Afghanistan, there is indifference to the functions of top-notch security agencies and the increasing deterioration of the security situation in the country. The main implementation of this program has been Pakistan and the Afghan Palace.

The five-billion-dollar assistance in the next three years to further unrest across Afghanistan, especially in the north of the country, is to strengthen the Taliban's fronts and ranks and continue to isolate national personalities, and prevent organizational normal functions. The national united nation is focused on strengthening the mercenary devotees for the upcoming elections.

The two-decades-long occupation of Afghanistan and the main purpose of the so-called generous help of the West is revealed. The money given was used to create insecurity and expand the areas under various terror groups in the north of Afghanistan. Now, we are witness to its consequences which are the massive concentration of the terror groups in the North to be dispatched to the neighbouring Central Asian countries of the former Soviet Union. A considerable amount of money was spent to strengthen the terrorist groups in the north of Afghanistan under Karzai and Ashraf Ghan's regimes. But Russia seems to be well prepared to respond to any malicious attack by terror-sponsored groups in the style of Ukraine. It has enough defence capability to respond to a handful of mobs.

The main purpose of these frustrating and two-way games is to consolidate the control of mines in Afghanistan. Remember that the deviation of public opinion is part of the satanic game. The outcome of previous generous aid to Afghanistan can be assessed in three million drug addicts, the creation of the most corrupt government system in the world composed of thieves, mercenaries, demons, usurpers, and spies of clowns and hypocrites. It is time for all patriotic individuals, including intellectuals, youth, and piety inside and outside a single front, united with modern wisdom and experience to save Afghanistan. Only those people who are accused of destroying the country, betrayal, or crime against humanity, not those who are traitors and hated in the public mind.

Conclusion: The recent position of the US State Department against the resistance front will ultimately end up in favour of the front. As the people in Afghanistan believe the United States and its allies have been the main cause of the crisis in Afghanistan. Now the world is divided into two parts over the issue of Afghanistan. The first group are composed of Britain, America, Pakistan, and Arab countries "UAE, Saudi Arabia and Qatar". The second group are made up of India, Russia, China and Iran. The recent trips of the American and Russian leaders are taking place to coordinate preventive measures after the defeat of America in Ukraine, and it is not a coincidence.

The case of Afghans is challenging and interesting both inside and outside. But America's game is designed in a different way to create a headache for Russia and China from the geography of Afghanistan. Being aware of this, despite the conflict in Ukraine, President Putin has shown no signs of an “off-ramp”. Putin considers his trip to Central Asian countries and Iran to be of vital importance at such a sensitive time. Without considering the main goals of America. The activities and visits of their leaders are not ineffective in determining the direction of the fate and chaotic situation of Afghanistan.
